JumpStartTU FAQ

What is Jumpstart TU?

Jumpstart TU is a week long program designed to prepare students for university life prior to beginning their first year as a college student. The University of Tulsa is committed to providing the necessary preparation and skills for incoming students and national research shows that students who are connected with peers, faculty and staff prior to beginning college are significantly more successful in transitioning to college.

How does it work?

Students selected to participate in JumpStartTU will receive detailed information regarding the program by Mid-May. Students will be expected to complete some readings and exercises that will prepare them for the week long experience in Panama. The application process provides information on the process, deadlines, and the scholarship application process. The application deadline is May 5, 2017.

Are there scholarships?

Yes. Students who want to participate on the program should apply. Instructions on how to request scholarships are included in the application process.

Who is directing the program?

The Vice Provost for Global Education along with a team of 5 staff/faculty are leading Jumpstart. The team TU are experienced in student services and university life and are well versed in Panama and the partners that we will utilize throughout the experience. There will be TU representatives with the students throughout the program.

Where do students stay?

The City of Knowledge is a foundation located on what was previously the U.S. base when the United States operated the Panama Canal (https://apps.ciudaddelsaber.org/portal/es/foundation). It is a full scale campus with new residence halls with 24/7 emergency information, local markets, an open air pavilion and other amenities. The Residence Halls are conveniently situated; the open-air pavilion for dining is less than 2 blocks away (https://apps.ciudaddelsaber.org/portal/en/services/lodging). The Faculty/Staff reside on the campus too so students have 24/7 access. More details on amenities (wi-fi is included, for example) will be provided.
Who are our Panamanian Partners?

JumpstartTU will be partnering with 3 organizations at the City of Knowledge in Panama—Wetlands International, CATHALAC, and Voces Vitales. Information on partners is available through the following links:

What is included in the program?

The Program is designed to be a guided package meaning students will be provided transportation from the airport to residence hall check-in upon arrival to Panama. Transportation is provided throughout the week guided by our local experts and TU faculty/staff. All entrance fees are taken care of and the 3 day field experience is guided by our local experts. Students should be prepared for $30 U.S. dollars per day for meals. Some meals are included including 3 dinners and a closing banquet.

What is Panama like?

Panama is one of the most biodiverse countries in the world. Being the major trade hub with the Panama Canal, companies from across the globe trade through Panama. In the heart of the rainforest, Panama is a humid and tropical, yet a beautiful country surrounded by the Pacific to the south and the Atlantic to the North. Because of the U.S. control of the Canal until 1999, Panama utilizes U.S. Currency and there is just one-hour difference in time. And yet it is culturally rich making it a wonderful location particularly for individuals experiencing another country for the first time.

How will my student get to Panama?

TU staff will work with each student to make sure the details are in place. We are currently in the process of airline reservations and depending upon the demographics of the Jumpstart students, we may have two departure cities—Dallas/Fort Worth and Houston. Jumpstart students will be accompanied by TU faculty/staff. More details will be included with registration.
